Inspiring new ways

Cable Car to Table Mountain, Cape Town

South African Embassy Tourism Newsletter - February 2019

Big Seven Travel company just released a list of The 50 Most Instagrammable Countries in the World, and South Africa made top 5! Have your cell-phone ready: this edition features four of the most photogenic spots in South Africa. We chose four beautiful sceneries for your next vacation in South Africa: a world of experiences, from game viewing in the bush to breath-taking landscapes, all photo-worthy spots!!

Kruger Park, Mpumalanga

This is by far South Africa's most well-known Park. With nearly 2 million hectares, it offers a fantastic biodiversity to its visitors: 336 species of trees, 114 of reptiles, 507 of birds and 147 of mammals. The Kruger borders Mozambique and spreads through the Mpumalanga and Limpopo provinces and is perfect for observing the Big Five (buffalo, lion, leopard, rhino and elephant).

Table Mountain, Western Cape
 Towering 1.086 m above Cape Town, it is the best reference for the city. This imposing mountain, flat on top like a table, is an absolute must to visit in the mother city. The visitor should be well aware of the weather conditions beforehand to go up and enjoy a breath-taking view of the sea as well as of this beautiful city. It's one of the 7 Natural Wonders.

The Panorama Route, Mpumalanga

On the Panorama Route in Mpumalanga, with its extraordinary vistas around every mountain corner, waterfalls plunging down faces of sheer rock, memories of the gold rush following you as you meander down an endless river canyon, and eagles hovering above your head. One breath-taking view after another, especially the truly impressive Blyde River Canyon, one of the world's largest canyons.

Augrabies Falls, Northern Cape

The Augrabies Falls National Park is one of six South African national parks in the Northern Cape. It follows the course of the Orange River from just outside Kakamas to the Namibian border, spanning more than 800km². One of its biggest drawcards is the Orange River which thunders its way through the park cascading powerfully down the 56m Augrabies Falls.
